

ANNEX 1 Data

Figures for Section 2.3

Notes: For data on child development, and as a bench mark for planning, a child is defined as a person under the age of 18.

Sociological notions of childhood are multifarious and depend on economic and cultural contexts in which adulthood, youth and childhood are defined by factors other than years of age.

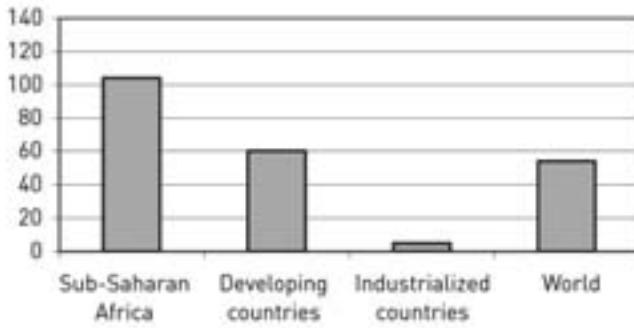

Source for basic data: UNICEF (2005) The State of the World Children.

Note: 'Girls' gross enrolment ratio divided by that of boys, as a percentage. The gross enrolment ratio is the number of children enrolled in a schooling level (primary or secondary), regardless of age, divided by the population of the age group that officially corresponds to that level.' (State of the World's Children 2005, p137) Data refer to the most recent year available for the specified period; averages may therefore draw on data from different years.

Note: Child labour as defined by UNICEF: 'Percentage of children aged 5 to 14 years of age involved in child labour activities at the moment of the survey. A child is considered to be involved in child labour activities under the following classification: (a) children 5 to 11 years of age that during the week preceding the survey did at least one hour of economic activity or at least 28 hours of domestic work, and (b) children 12 to 14 years of age that during the week preceding the survey did at least 14 hours of economic activity or at least 42 hours of economic activity and domestic work combined.' (The State of the World's Children 2005, p. 139). Data is missing for South Africa, Mozambique, Botswana and Namibia, making the Southern Africa regional average based only on the figures for the other countries in Southern Africa and therefore uncertain, given the large proportion of the population that those four countries contribute to the region. Data refer to the most recent year available for the specified period; averages may therefore draw on data from different years.

ANNEX 2 English Version Questionnaire 1

Thank you very much for taking the time to fill in this questionnaire. Please feel free to input your answers directly onto this form and use additional sheets/space whenever necessary.

To organisations that do not have direct counter-trafficking interventions but have other programmes that address abuses against women and children, we request that you fill in the organisational details (this page only), so that we can include this information in our data base of network organisations working on related issues.

To respondents with counter-trafficking projects or interventions or projects that could possibly be part of the 'best practices' report of UNESCO, please fill in all parts of the questionnaire. Whenever needed, feel free to use additional space or paper. Please return this questionnaire via email or post on or before April 16, 2004.

If possible, please inform us by email that you have responded by post. Thank you very much for your cooperation!

We request also that this questionnaire and our letter be forwarded to those who you think should receive it. We would appreciate it very much if you can help us spread this questionnaire to more organisations.

ANNEX 3 English Version Questionnaire 2

The following are only the basic questions asked in the second round of the study. Additional questions specific to the organisation, to complete the information needed on the organisation were also asked in this phase of the study.

1. What do you think are the root causes of child (and women) trafficking?
2. How do you see change happening? How can/will trafficking be resolved? If you prefer you can answer the question in the context of the area where you are operating.
3. No one organisation or practice can address all the parts of the complex problem of trafficking. What part does (the organisation) play, and how can the other aspects of the problem be addressed?
